On-Location Training Programme on – Agri Value Chain Financing and Climate Resilience’

(13 to 15 November 2025)

Introduction:

Agricultural Value Chain Mapping encompasses identifying key stakeholders, processes, and bottlenecks at all stages of bringing a product from production to market, to enhance overall efficiency and productivity. Climate Change poses significant risks to agri-value chains and underscores the urgent need to integrate climate resilience into value chain interventions to achieve poverty reduction and food security goals. Climate Resilient Agriculture involves implementing sustainable farming practices such as efficient water management, soil conservation, and crop diversification to adapt to climate change. To build value chains that are climate resilient, each actor along the value chain must assess climate risks and manage the activities that make up the value chain adaptivity.

With a view to create awareness among various stakeholders regarding value chain vulnerability and climate resilience, BIRD-Mangaluru has designed a three-day basic training programme on the subject for the benefit of Banks/FIs, NGOs, FPOs, CSR Wings, Trusts, Societies and Government Departments.
