In Campus Training Programme on 'Frauds, Internal Checks and Control in Computerized Environment and KYC/AML and Risk Based Internal Audit' (30 June -02 July 2025)

Introduction: Rural Financial Institutions (Rural Cooperative Banks and Regional Rural Banks) play a crucial role in providing financial services to rural communities, including farmers, small businesses, and self-help groups. Given their unique structure and socio-economic responsibilities, strong internal checks and controls are essential to ensure their efficiency, transparency, and sustainability. With the adoption of computerized banking systems, rural cooperative banks have improved their efficiency, service delivery, and financial management. However, the transition to a digital environment also introduces new risks, making internal checks and controls even more critical. Below are key reasons why internal checks and controls are vital for Rural Financial Institutions:

- Preventing Fraud and Financial Irregularities
- Ensuring Compliance with Regulatory Requirements
- Safeguarding Assets and Resources
- Enhancing Operational Efficiency
- Building Trust and Confidence Among Stakeholder
- Strengthening Loan Management and Credit Risk Control
- Improving Decision-Making and Governance

Internal checks and controls are the backbone of Rural Financial Institutions, ensuring smooth and transparent operations. They help in fraud prevention, regulatory compliance, asset protection, efficiency enhancement, stakeholder confidence, credit risk management, and informed decision-making. Strengthening these internal mechanisms is crucial for the long-term success and financial stability of Rural Cooperative Banks and Regional Rural Banks. Similarly, KYC and AML guidelines are crucial for maintaining the integrity of Rural Financial Institutions. They prevent fraud, ensure regulatory compliance, promote transparency, and enhance customer trust. By implementing strong KYC and AML measures, these banks can provide secure and inclusive financial services while safeguarding the financial system from abuse.

Keeping the above aspects in view, the captioned programme has been designed for the officers of the Rural Cooperative Banks and Regional Rural Banks. This three-days' training program will empower officials of RCBs and RRBs with the necessary skills and knowledge to prevent fraud, implement strong internal controls, and ensure regulatory compliance in a computerized banking environment. Strengthening their capabilities will enhance the security, efficiency, and credibility of Rural Financial Institutions, ultimately benefiting rural communities.

Objectives: By the end of the programme, the participants would be able to:-

- ❖ Framework for Internal checks and control
- ❖ Explain the scope of internal inspection and audit of branches

- ❖ Identify sources of leakage of income in business operations
- ❖ Explain KYC Guidelines and PML Act
- ❖ Define frauds and list out methods of preventing frauds
- ❖ Narrate the role of MIS in internal control system
- ❖ Explain the scope of Internal Checks and Control in CBS environment
- ❖ Explain issues of concern enumerated in statutory audit and inspections
- ❖ Explain risk assessment methodologies and fraud risk management frameworks.
- ❖ Explain the emerging threats in digital banking such as cyber fraud, AI-driven scams, and data breaches.
